

February, 1912.

The AERO

Published Monthly

Price 6^d NET

THE HYDRO-AEROPLANE "WATER-BIRD" FLYING OVER LAKE WINDERMERE

With the exception of the engine this machine is British-built, and is one of the pioneers in this country of a type of flying machine which is rapidly becoming very popular in America. It allows excellent practice in long distance flying, since, by keeping along the coast-line, the pilot can alight on the sea close to any point he may choose.